

MARKETING PLAN FOR:

EARLY ON[®] MICHIGAN

SEPTEMBER 30, 2002

BACKGROUND

Early On Michigan is a system available in all 57 of Michigan's Intermediate School Districts (ISD's), and is designed to coordinate early intervention and other services for families with children ages 0–3 that may need services due to a child's developmental delay, disability, or special needs.

Early On Michigan (EOM) can help address developmental issues for these children by providing numerous services including (but not limited to) developmental assessments, individual family service planning, home visits and therapy, playgroups to help build socialization skills, parent education and support, and service coordination with other local, state, and federal agencies.

EOM follows a principle of family-centered care, which recognizes that a developmentally challenged child's family is the one constant in the child's life. Thus, an equal partnership between the family and the professionals providing care for the child is the environment that gives the child and family the best opportunity for success. Family-centered care honors the priorities, choices, and resources of the individual family when a plan for care is developed.

SITUATION

In Michigan, the families of numerous children who experience developmental delays or have disabilities or special needs are not receiving the counseling and special services they require. The federal government has determined that 2.2% of families may need child early development counseling and services. In Michigan, many children and families eligible for services from EOM do not receive them due to lack of awareness of availability of and eligibility for these services. EOM's primary goal is to increase the awareness and usage of EOM services by those children and families in need. This is important because the earlier a child/family takes advantage of EOM's services, the more likely it is that a positive outcome will occur.

EOM was launched in 1992 with significant funding, but due to changes in budget priorities at the state level, it has seen its marketing and promotion budget scaled back. Additionally, the marketing/promotion materials that have been developed for the EOM system seem to have a divergent and inconsistent design style, which hampers the group's ability to define a consistent public image. Due to new funding, EOM has significant opportunities to raise awareness of the system with its primary target audiences. These include the families that most need the services, and also primary care physicians, nurses, other caregivers (daycare professionals, dentists, optometrists, preschool teachers, etc.), and state and local agency workers who may be able to identify children and families that could benefit from EOM's services. Adding to the complexity, children/families who could utilize these services cross all demographic and socioeconomic strata.

The new funding will allow EOM to reinvigorate its marketing and communications efforts. With this funding, the organization has an opportunity to significantly increase the public's awareness of its services. EOM will be facing a number of strategic decisions regarding the marketing mix most effective to reach the different target audiences. Numerous forms of media, from the traditional (television, radio, print, outdoor) to the grassroots (pamphlets, flyers, posters placed in strategic locations, volunteer efforts, public relations activities), will provide the comprehensive strategy necessary to reach the divergent families and affiliated audiences.

OVERALL CAMPAIGN OBJECTIVE

To increase the number of infants and toddlers (and their families) referred to early intervention services.

TARGET AUDIENCES

The marketing plan covers three primary target audiences:

- 1. Urban/rural/suburban families of infants and toddlers with special needs
- 2. Primary Referral Sources
- 3. General Population

The next section provides significant additional information on each of the audiences, a discussion of preferred plan tactics, and a list of deliverables from Pace & Partners for each tactic.

A note on tactics: A variety of tactics must be employed to reach EOM's wide target audiences. Constraints on both time and budgets will require prioritization of these tactics. This plan identifies those strategies that can most successfully be implemented to reach the target audiences across the state and should result in a successful campaign.

TARGET AUDIENCE #1—URBAN/RURAL/SUBURBAN FAMILIES OF INFANTS AND TODDLERS WITH SPECIAL NEEDS

Background information on this target audience:

- In 2000, 136,048 babies were born in the state of Michigan.

- There are approximately 416,000 children aged 0–3 in the state of Michigan (approximately 4.1% of the total state population).
 - Of the approximately 4 million households in the state of Michigan, nearly 6% (approximately 240,000 total households) have children aged 0–3 living in them.
 - 70% of children are living in a household headed by a married couple.
 - 30% of children are living in a household headed by a single parent or other relative.
 - Approximately 20% of children live below the poverty line
 - In 1999, 14.7% of families with children under age 5 lived below the poverty line.
 - 44.2% of families with children under age 5 headed by a female householder with no husband present lived below the poverty line.
- 14.2% of the state population is African American and 3.3% is Hispanic/Latino. Due to higher birth rates for these populations, the percentage of children aged 0–3 in each of these categories is higher.
- In 1999, 6.4% of all children born (8,455) were born with a reported birth defect. By age 20, nearly 10% of the population reports a disability.

Barriers to reaching this audience:

- Children with disabilities or developmental delays (and their families) cross all demographic and socioeconomic strata.
- Children and families facing these issues live in all geographic areas of the state.
- Often families are in denial to the severity and complexity of the situation they and their child are in, and thus are averse to receiving the EOM message.

CAMPAIGN TACTICS—PARENTS/FAMILIES

In order to increase receptivity to the EOM message, we recommend reaching this audience at different times during the very early stages of their child’s development, utilizing the following materials to educate the parents. To have the message effectively attract the audience’s attention, multiple media and tactics are recommended. This will increase the repetition of the message through multiple exposures. Due to the geographic spread of this target audience, the different media suggested will also increase the reach of the message.

1. Early On Portfolio for Parents

There are two key times when there’s an opportunity to provide parents with information: during prenatal education, and immediately following delivery (in the hospital). Many expectant and new parents are ready to absorb all kinds of information in anticipation of the birth of their child. This information should be given to all relevant prenatal organizations and classes, and hospitals to distribute to new parents.

Deliverables—Portfolio Elements (in printer-ready files):

- A. Introductory letter—A draft version of a letter from the Governor (three versions—English, Spanish, Arabic).
- B. Developmental Calendar —Describes how a baby develops through the first three years of life, addresses issues that parents may want to discuss with a healthcare provider, offers different activities for parents to engage in with their children, and includes safety tips, etc. (three versions—English, Spanish, Arabic).
- C. Helpful phone numbers list (baby-sitter refrigerator magnet)—includes a list of emergency services, and possibly agencies and programs with phone numbers.
- D. Childhood Immunization Schedule Card—list of vaccines and the age they are recommended (with translations). This would be done in collaboration with the Michigan Department of Community Health.

Note: We also recommend including a copy of the “Wonder Years” newsletter that is written by the Michigan Department of Education.

2. Early On Postcard Series

EOM assists new parents by educating them about key issues to discuss with their healthcare provider. The postcard series will not overwhelm parents by giving them reasonable, digestible amounts of information at specific intervals. A simple checklist of issues and a statement about EOM as a referral source will elevate recognition and awareness. A database of new parents can be developed based on birth records.

Mailings can then be timed to reach parents at key developmental stages during the first three years of life.

Deliverables:

- A. Sources for names of new parents/parents with newborns—Due to privacy concerns, these names are not publicly available. To obtain lists of parents with newborn children, EOM or its designated distribution agency will have to work with one or more list brokers. These lists will likely not be comprehensive, but include the majority of new parents in Michigan. We have identified list brokers that offer lists of parents with newborns (and possibly parents with children aged 0–3 and expectant mothers/parents) as well as brokers that specialize in ethnic group lists. Their contact information is included in the Resources section of this plan. These lists typically cost between $150 and $300 per thousand names.
- B. A series of 12 postcards (four each in English, Spanish, and Arabic) timed to reach parents at 3 months, 6 months, 12 months, and 2 years after birth, with appropriate information to increase the likelihood that parents will make an inquiry to Early On if warranted.

3. Milk Carton or Other Packaging Opportunities

There may be an opportunity to collaborate with a local dairy producer, pizza franchise, video rental franchise, or a similar company, to promote Early On Michigan. This tactic has proven successful for early intervention programs in other states.

Deliverables:

- A. A list of possible organizations for Early On to contact/make arrangements with that may be interested in distributing Early On information with their products. In the Resources section of this plan we have attached a list of organizations to contact regarding possible placement of an EOM message.
- B. Printer-ready artwork that can be given to organizations EOM is collaborating with for placement on milk cartons, pizza boxes, with video rentals, etc.

4. Targeted Print Advertising

Print advertising is an excellent medium for giving detailed information and telling a complete “story”. We recommend running ads in Michigan publications or in Michigan-zoned distribution of national publications likely to reach parents with small children.

Deliverables:

- A. A comprehensive list of publications to consider for advertising. We have attached a list of publications to contact for advertising placement in the Resources section of this plan, with additional information on editorial style, demographics, and geographic coverage.
- B. Four completed print advertisements, designed for easy placement/resizing, and developed for the following target audiences:
 - 1. One ad for Caucasian families
 - 2. One ad for African American families
 - 3. One newspaper ad for Hispanic/Latino families
 - 4. One newspaper ad for Arabic families

5. Web Links

EOM can create additional awareness by creating alliances and relationships with organizations whose Web sites may have frequent visits from parents of newborn/young children. EOM should aggressively pursue relationships with these organizations and contact the communications managers/directors/webmasters of appropriate organizations to request the addition of a link to the Early On Michigan Web site, and also discuss possibilities of mentioning the EOM system within the content of the Web site. Many of these sites already have “Additional Resources” or “Relevant Links” pages on the site, so getting EOM added to the list should be possible.

Deliverables:

- A. A list of relevant organization Web sites to possibly link to the Early On Web site. We have attached a list of Web sites to contact in the Resources section of this plan.
- B. A completed banner advertisement for placement on Web sites (in English).

TARGET AUDIENCE #2 – PRIMARY REFERRAL SOURCES

Early On Michigan identified physicians and other human services personnel as primary referral sources. The target audiences is defined in greater detail:

Physicians/Healthcare Professionals

- In 1999 (the last year data was reported), there were 212,000 healthcare practitioners and technicians and 115,000 healthcare support workers in the state of Michigan.
- Of those, the following target audiences may have access to families/children with disabilities/developmental delay:
 - 6,620 family and general practitioners, 1,320 general internists, and 770 general pediatricians.
 - 82,200 registered nurses, 19,510 licensed practical/vocational nurses, and 39,440 nursing aides/orderlies/attendants
 - Relevant specialists including 1,020 optometrists, 310 audiologists, 5,650 physical therapists, 2,700 physical therapist aides/assistants, and 4,590 speech/language pathologists.

Healthcare Facilities

- There are more than 150 recognized hospitals in the state of Michigan. All may have relationships with healthcare professionals who may come into contact or refer families with children with special needs. The majority of hospitals provide emergency care and/or birthing services for their communities.
- We located nearly 45 urgent care systems in the state, most affiliated with local/community health systems and possibly having numerous local branches. Most larger health systems operate clinics to provide urgent care and specific clinical care.

Health Maintenance Organizations

- There are nearly 30 state-recognized Health Maintenance Organizations operating in the state of Michigan. Each of these organizations provides care and services for expectant mothers and families with young children.

Prenatal Organizations

- There are many organizations/associations operating in the state of Michigan that are dedicated to prenatal/young child services.

Social Workers/Family Therapists/Clergy

- There were 12,590 child/family/school social workers, 3,060 medical/public health social workers, and 260 marriage and family therapists in the state of Michigan in 1999.
- 1,200 members of the clergy and another 600 religious activity/education directors work in Michigan.

Childcare/Daycare Professionals

- 18,360 childcare workers provide care to children in Michigan (this includes daycare professionals).

Preschool/Special Education Teachers

- There are 5,630 special education teachers for preschool/kindergarten/ elementary school, and another 6,410 preschool teachers.

Issues communicating with these audiences:

- Physicians are overwhelmed with information on new pharmaceutical products and treatment strategies, making it difficult to gain an appropriate share of voice.
- Problems with children may not become apparent to primary-care physicians and assistants, so specialists also need to be aware of services provided by Early On Michigan.
- Hospitals/urgent care centers treat patients of all ages and with all conditions, making it challenging to locate and educate the specific care providers and professionals who should be informed of EOM.
- Healthcare assistants, daycare professionals, special education teachers, and preschool teachers may not have the formal training to determine whether a child/family may benefit from EOM's services. Paradoxically, these are audiences with a very high likelihood of having exposure to children/families that can benefit from EOM.

CAMPAIGN TACTICS— PRIMARY REFERRAL SOURCES

The host of potential referral sources for Early On Michigan crosses public and private organizations and individuals. Many strategies need to be employed to increase the awareness and likelihood of referral from these sources. These organizations and individuals are also excellent points for distribution of information to new parents.

A large list of associations and organizations is included in the Resources section of this plan that will provide an excellent starting place for building awareness of EOM among primary referral sources. We recommend that EOM or its agency contact them about whether they have a state-distributed newsletter or publication, mailing list, or annual meeting/conference. Often, these organizations will eagerly work with an organization like EOM, and provide free or discounted coverage of EOM in their publications, access to their mailing list, distribution of materials to their membership, or attendance at their annual meetings. By developing these relationships with the organizations/ associations, EOM can significantly increase the awareness and number of referrals, often at a low cost.

Pace & Partners recommends the following tactics to reach the diverse audiences likely to provide a family/child referral to EOM.

- Early On Portfolio/Packet for Primary Referral Sources Pace & Partners will develop a packet of materials for distribution to primary referral sources to make them aware of the EOM program and to enlist them in the distribution and display of materials for families who need them. The communications pieces listed below can be displayed at ethnic community centers, churches, physicians' offices, daycare centers, family therapy offices, and other locations. We recommend multiple pieces be included in the packets to allow the providers to use what best works in their setting. Multiple pieces may also allow the opportunity for multiple communications with the providers over time. (Note: in addition to the associations/ organizations previously mentioned, EOM may also find success in gathering mailing lists for distribution of these materials by working with the list brokers that are listed in the Resources section of this plan.)

Deliverables—in printer-ready file format:

- A. Posters—Four posters that build awareness of Early On Michigan, for display at many different points of contact. The posters will be executed for Caucasian, African American, Hispanic/Latino (in Spanish), and Arab (in Arabic) audiences.
- B. Brochure—Brochure that highlights key stages of learning development from 0–3, general playing and interaction tips, key phone numbers of services and a general statement about Early On Michigan. Brochure will be executed in English, Spanish, and Arabic (three brochures total).
- C. Rack/Counter Card—Simple counter cards that can be prominently displayed on the check-in counter of a physician's office, emergency room, urgent care clinic, or other points of contact. These pieces could highlight the key changes at each phase of development—3 months, 6 months, 9 months, etc., promoting Early On Michigan services. Pace & Partners will develop three multilingual and multicultural counter cards.
- D. Rolodex Card—A simple Rolodex card for all segments and types of referral sources with a brief description of EOM and contact numbers.
- E. Stickers—A template for simple Early On Michigan stickers with the Early On logo, 800 number, and Web site.
- F. Nametags—A template that can be used as a base for the development of nametags for EOM or other organizations.

2. Trade and Association Advertising

There are opportunities to reach referral sources through print advertising in association and trade publications.

Deliverables:

- A. List of association/trade publications to consider for advertising. A list of possible publications to consider is included in the Resources section of this plan. (Note: these publications may also be a good source for direct mailing lists.)
 - B. Four completed association/trade advertisements targeted to different audiences (physicians and nurses, educators, public health workers, childcare workers).
- 3. Trade/Professional Association Attendance
Early On Michigan should have a presence at relevant association, professional, or group meetings to call attention to the system. Many of the materials already developed would be distributed at these meetings.

Deliverables:

- A. List of associations/trade shows to consider for attending. A list of associations/trade shows to consider has been included in the Resources section of this plan. We anticipate further appropriate meetings/shows will be discovered by the EOM staff through relationship development with the numerous relevant state associations, as mentioned in the previous sections.
- B. Association Meeting Display. Pace & Partners will design printer-ready files for a tabletop display for use at these meetings.

TARGETED AUDIENCE #3—THE GENERAL PUBLIC

General awareness of Early On Michigan needs to be further developed in the population at large since a relative, colleague, co-worker, or friend may be the first person who provides impetus to a family to seek assistance.

CAMPAIGN TACTICS—GENERAL PUBLIC

The general public is an important audience to the extent that it overlaps with both the referral and the parent audiences (referral sources and parents will inherently be reached through general public messages). This audience also includes others who have contact with parents and families.

1. Radio Ads/PSAs

Radio is an ideal reach and frequency medium to educate and promote awareness of Early On Michigan. We recommend developing radio spots that could be run as paid media or as public service announcements. Our experience suggests that integrating paid buys with requests for public service support better serves the advertiser in placement and frequency.

Deliverables:

Five radio spots developed so they can run as paid media or public service announcements. These ads will be designed for the following target audiences in the general public:

- A. Two ads for Causasian families
- B. One ad for African American families
- C. One ad for Hispanic/Latino families
- D. One ad for Arabic families

2. Television Advertisements/PSAs

Television is an excellent medium for the EOM message because, as a visual medium, it adds a stronger emotional component to the messages contained in other media (print, radio, outdoor, etc.). Highly targeted cable television buys may make sense for EOM and should be explored.

Deliverables:

Four television advertisements for possible paid or donated placement, with the same target audiences as the radio ads above.

3. Billboard Advertising

Outdoor is an excellent awareness-building medium and provides great synergy with radio. Another advantage of outdoor is that it can be bought in a highly targeted way, reaching specific geographic targets. A list of outdoor advertising vendors in Michigan is provided in the Resources section of this plan.

Deliverables:

Three outdoor billboard designs in printer-ready format.

4. Cinema Advertising

Outdoor/billboard advertising can be easily adapted for use in cinema advertising. We recommend that cinema advertising be explored, as it is an excellent awareness-building medium that reaches high volumes of people who are a captive audience at the time. We have provided a contact for cinema advertising in the Resources section at the end of this report.

Deliverables:

Pace & Partners will modify the three outdoor designs for use as cinema advertising.

5. Press Kit/Media Relations

We believe earned media will be very important to carrying the message of EOM. Pace & Partners will design a press kit to support earned media activities, including templates to be used by the implementing grantee.

Deliverables—Media Kit:

- A. A cover folder to hold the relevant media kit contents
- B. Development of a talking points/story ideas list for interviewees
- C. Template for contact sheet with information on EOM and local Early On/ISD resources
- D. Scripts for Public Service Announcements

Note: A list of daily newspapers operating in the state of Michigan is provided in the Resources section of this plan.

CONCLUSION

This marketing plan lays out the methods and vehicles that Pace & Partners believes will provide the best opportunity to meet Early On Michigan's primary goal of increasing the number of inquiries/referrals to the Early On system. If needed, Pace would be happy to work with EOM and its designated marketing distribution agency on a revised contractual basis after the initial contract has expired and all work is completed. We could provide additional research, guidance, and expertise on the best methods to achieve EOM's stated goals once the distribution agency and promotion/media budgets have been finalized.
